

Corporate Sector — Selected English Language & Communication Programs (2013-2018)

In addition to English-language training for professionals in smaller organizations across architecture and design, accounting, legal consulting, and technology, I designed customized English and professional communication programs for corporate and public-sector clients across a range of industries.

Working directly with organizations and learners, I identified language and workplace communication needs, designed industry-specific curricula and learning materials, and delivered training in most programs. Selected projects included:

1. GUP "RACIN" – Republican Agro-Industrial Center for Investment and Innovation

Designed and delivered customized English-language training for senior staff, focusing on sector-specific vocabulary and professional communication required for international investment and innovation activities.

2. IKEA Russia

Designed and facilitated English-language training focused on business communication and cross-cultural collaboration, helping employees communicate more effectively with international colleagues and participate in global projects.

3. AO Svyazinvestneftekhim — Oil & Gas

Designed a specialized English-language program for administrative staff focused on interpreting, industry terminology, and technical and professional communication for international meetings and documentation.

4. Kazan Helicopter Plant

Designed and delivered industry-specific English training for technical and administrative professionals preparing for European development programs and international exhibitions, integrating professional communication, public speaking, and presentation skills.

5. Kazan Motor-Building Production Association (KMPO)

Designed and delivered technical English training for professionals preparing for overseas education programs and participation in international industry events, adapting language instruction to their professional context and communication needs.

6. Rohde & Schwarz — Russia Division

Worked with the sales team to strengthen their English-language proficiency and professional communication skills for international collaboration, client interactions, and product exhibitions.

7. Shell Russia

Designed and delivered specialized English-language training for oil and energy professionals, focusing on industry terminology and communication skills required for work in an international corporate environment.

8. National Bank of Tatarstan

Provided individualized executive English training for the CEO, focusing on professional communication relevant to senior-level international interactions.
